* Result on business activities defined as operating profit before administrative expenses and net impairment allowance and write-downs.

The financial results achieved by the PKO Bank Polski SA Group in 2012 shaped up on a very high level, and loan and deposit volumes were the highest among institutions in the Polish banking sector. An adverse economic activity trend was observed in Poland in 2012. The economic processes were accompanied by high uncertainty as to the future growth prospects. At the same time, net profit of the Polish banking sector in 2012 increased, however significantly lower growth rate of this net profit was recorded compared to 2011. High level of the banking sector’s net profit was an effect of i.a. high level of net interest income and maintaining a stable growth rate of administrative expenses.

The net profit generated by the PKO Bank Polski SA Group in 2012 amounted to PLN 3 748.6 million, which represents a decrease of 1.5%, i.e. by PLN 58.6 million comparing to the previous year profit. The achieved level of net profit was determined by:

- record result on business activities of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group, which reached a level of PLN 11 569.9 million (+3.8% y/y), mainly as a result of:
  - increase in net interest income by 3.6% y/y – mainly due to increase in interest income from loans and advances to customers (+6.1% y/y) and increase in result on financial operations and net other operating income and expenses,

- increase in administrative expenses (+4.7% y/y); along with growth rate of income of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group at the level of 3.9% y/y, the C/I ratio increased by 0.3 pp. y/y to the level of 39.9%,

- increase in negative result on net impairment allowance and write-downs (+20.5% y/y), mainly impairment allowance on corporate loans,

- increase in the PKO Bank Polski SA Group’s total assets by PLN 2.7 billion y/y to (to the level of PLN 193.5 billion) resulting from growth of loan activity financed mainly by the issue of bonds,

- secure and effective structure of the statement of financial position – strong deposit base, the level of equity of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group and the issue of bonds enabled growth of business activities; as at the end of 2012, the loan to deposit ratio (amounts due to customers) of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group amounted to 98.4% (loans to stable sources of funding ratio amounted to 89.6%).

1.5 The PKO Bank Polski SA Group against its peer group

The stable situation in the banking sector in 2012 and the increase of average annual interest rates translated into the increase of the profits recorded by banks. In 2012, the PKO Bank Polski SA Group achieved high financial results.

* The value of net profit for 3Q2012 for particular banks was adopted as a sum of net profit recognised for 3Q2012 and for 4Q2011.

In 2012, Polish banking sector continued its activities aiming at reducing administrative expenses, including i.a. maintaining by banks a selective approach towards the development of the branch network and an intensive growth of internet banking. In 2012, the PKO Bank Polski SA Group maintained the relation of costs to income at a very low level – significantly lower than the value realised by the peer group.

In 2012, financial results were influenced by uncertain macroeconomic condition, accompanied by limited increase in net interest income of banks and negative influence of increase in costs of credit risk.

At the same time, active policy of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group contributed to maintain a high return on assets.

Ratio calculations are based on the data available in consolidated annual reports of the particular banks (data for the years 2005-2011), and due to lack of publications of some of the banks from the peer group consolidated annual reports for 2012 before publication date of consolidated annual report of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group, data for 3 quarters of 2012 of these banks, as data representing trends in 2012, was adopted. All data is weighted by total assets.
The macroeconomic situation in 2012 contributed to a significantly lower growth rate of the financial result compared with 2011, which resulted in the stabilisation of return on equity. In 2012, the PKO Bank Polski SA Group maintained high profitability.

The capital adequacy of the banking sector in 2012 remained stable and as a result, capital adequacy ratio remained on a high level in the whole sector. The level of capital adequacy ratio in the PKO Bank Polski SA Group remained also at a safe and stable level – significantly above the minimum level set by the Banking Act.

2. EXTERNAL BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

2.1 Macroeconomic environment

A decrease in economic activity was observed in Poland in 2012. At the same time, adverse economic trends (stagnation/recession) continued in the euro zone and the EU funds from the Financial Perspective 2007–2013 were coming to an end. The economic processes were accompanied by the high uncertainty as to the future growth prospects. In 2012, GDP growth in Poland amounted to ca. 2.0% compared with 4.3% in 2011 with weakening GDP growth rate dynamics during the year. This significant slow-down was due to a decreasing growth rate of capital expenditure and a significant, negative contribution of inventories to growth (in particular in the second quarter of 2012), reflecting gradual adaptation of enterprises to new, unfavourable demand conditions. A decrease in private consumption was a result of inflation remaining at an increased level and a gradual deterioration in the situation on the labour market. Net export, which was achieved mainly due to a decrease in the import-intensive domestic demand component, had a positive effect on growth.

Given the slower GDP growth rate in 2012, only the slight increase in the employment rate in the corporate sector by 0.1% y/y, compared with 3.2% in 2011 was recorded, whereas the registered unemployment rate increased by 0.9 pp. per annum to 13.4% in December 2012. The increase in wages and salaries in the corporate sector decreased to 3.4% in 2012, compared with 5.0% in 2011.
The average annual inflation rate, measured with the consumer price index (CPI), decreased to 3.7% y/y in 2012 (from 4.3% y/y in 2011). Throughout most of the year, this index remained at a level close to that recorded in the previous year (ca. 4%) and outside the NBP inflation target corridor (2.5% +/- 1%), which was mainly due to supply shocks – fossil fuel prices remaining at high level and a strong growth of food prices. The value of the index started to decrease strongly in the fourth quarter, which was due to fuel price decreases, food disinflation and strong base effects. In December, CPI inflation amounted to 2.4% y/y.

2.2 Stock market

The year 2012 was a very good year for the global stock markets, including the Warsaw Stock Exchange. The WIG index increased by 26%. The year started with strong increases due to enthusiasm following the liquidity operations (LTRO) conducted by the European Central Bank. However, the second quarter brought a strong correction caused by disappointing macroeconomic data and fears that the euro zone might break up. Prosperity returned in the second half of the year, and the ECB President’s declaration concerning conditional buy-out of peripheral euro zone government bonds should be considered the turning point. In an attempt to sum-up the whole year, one could say that the upturn on the stock markets was caused by three factors:
- a decrease in the system risk for the euro zone;
- expansive policies of central banks, which contributed to low market interest rates, and
- the forecasts that the low point of the business cycle in the European economy would be reached in the first half of 2013 at the latest.

The above mentioned factors encouraged investors to seek profits among more risky assets, such as shares.

2.3 Foreign exchange market

In 2012, the main factors determining changes on the foreign exchange market were the following:
- the debt crisis in the peripheral euro zone countries and the resulting market fears concerning the solvency and EMU membership of Greece and the stability of the Spanish financial system (the first half of 2012);
- quantitative expansions and intervention Fed bond buyouts (QE3, Twist Operation), ECB (LTRO, OMT) and other central banks;
- slow-down of the economic growth followed by interest rate decreases (i.a. in Poland).

The foreign exchange market was characterised by high volatility. Ultimately, the exchange rate of the euro to the US dollar increased, as did the rate of the Polish zloty to both these currencies. Tensions in the global financial system associated with the debt crisis in the euro zone made it impossible for the National Bank of Switzerland to withdraw from defending the EUR/CHF exchange rate at the 1.20 level, since the market pressure kept the exchange rate of this currency pair close to the bottom limit determined by the SNB throughout the year. As a result, the CHF/PLN exchange rate was changing along the same lines as the EUR/PLN exchange rate throughout the year. EUR/USD amounted to 1.3194 at the end of the year, EUR/PLN amounted to 4.0750, and CHF/PLN amounted to 3.3721.

2.4 Interest rate market

In 2012, profitability decreases on the Polish interest rate market were mainly driven by expectations that the monetary policy in the world, including Poland, would become less strict. Such a scenario was supported by the belief that the disinflation process started in the middle of the previous year and that it would be continued in 2013. Additionally, fears of an economic slow-down increased in Poland around the end of the first half of the year and the beginning of the second half due to a decline in infrastructural investment and the economic downturn in the euro zone. The gradual decrease in credit risk premium in the euro zone was additional factor that had a positive effect on the prices of Polish Treasury bonds.

3-year LTROs introduced by the European Central Bank to provide banks with liquidity, and, subsequently the OMT programme announced in August to buy Treasury bonds on the secondary market, resulted in a rapid decrease in the CDS contracts’ prices reflecting a risk of insolvency. During the whole year, the yield on Polish 2-year bonds decreased by 175 b.p. to 3.12%, and the yield on 5 and 10 year bonds decreased by 210–220 b.p. to 3.22% and 3.73%, respectively. 5-year CDS contract’s prices for Poland decreased by 200 b.p. to 80 b.p., which reflects growing creditworthiness.

In accordance with the ‘Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2012’, the monetary policy objective was to maintain inflation at the level of 2.5%, with a symmetrical tolerance range for deviations of +/- 1 pp. Due to inflation remaining above the upper limit of the range, in May 2012 the Monetary Policy Council (RPP – Rada Polityki Pieniężnej) decided to increase interest rates by 25 b.p. to 4.75% (the reference rate). As the GDP growth was becoming slower and the inflation pressure was decreasing, RPP moved from stricter to less strict monetary policy measures over a period of 6 months. Namely, it decreased the interest rates in November by 25 b.p. and then by another 25 b.p. in December (to 4.25%). Average annual interest rate 3M WIBOR was at the level of 4.91% in 2012, which means an increase by 0.37 pp. compared with 2011.

2.5 The situation of the Polish banking sector

The situation of the Polish banking sector remained stable in 2012, although the rate of growth of the financial result was much lower than in 2011. In 2012, the net financial result amounted to PLN 16.1 billion and was 3.9% higher than in 2011. This increase was mainly due to an increase in the result on banking activities (+3.3% y/y), including the net interest income (1.5% y/y) and the other operating profit (15.9% y/y), as well as maintaining a stable growth rate of administrative expenses (3.7% y/y). An increase in net impairment allowance (ca. 4.0% y/y) resulting from deterioration in the quality of the loan portfolio had an adverse effect on the financial result.

The operating efficiency of the banking sector deteriorated slightly: as at the end of 2012, the C/I ratio amounted to 50.9%, compared with 50.7% in the previous year. The capital adequacy ratio of the banking sector remained high: it amounted to 14.7% and was higher compared with the previous year (+1.6 pp.).

The impaired receivables increased by 8.7% as at the end of 2012, and the share of such receivables in total receivables amounted to 8.8% compared with 8.2% at the end of 2011. This situation was due to an increase in the non-performing large corporate loans (by ca. 34%), mainly resulting from a deterioration of the financial situation of the construction industry. The rate of non-performing loans for corporate loans as at the end of 2012 increased to 11.7% from 10.3% as at the end of 2011, for mortgage loans to 2.8% from 2.4% and for consumer loans it decreased to 17.3% from 17.9%.
As at the end of 2012, the total assets of the banking sector amounted to PLN 1 353 billion and were 4.5% higher than at the end of 2011. The situation on the loan and deposit market was characterised by a significant slowdown in the lending activities of banks and a slight increase in the deposit volumes. The change in the loan and deposit volumes was affected by the appreciation of PLN, which reduced their value (a decrease in the PLN/CHF exchange rate of 6.8% and PLN/EUR of 7.4% in y/y terms).

In 2012, total loans increased by PLN 13.3 billion compared with PLN 118 billion in 2011, and the rate of their growth decreased from 15.2% y/y to 1.5% y/y. After an adjustment for changes in the exchange rates, the total increase in loans amounted to PLN 37 billion and was a half of the amount recorded in 2011.

Lending activity addressed to enterprises was significantly reduced. The amount of loans in this segment was increased by ca. PLN 1.8 billion in 2012 compared with PLN 43 billion in 2011, and the growth rate decreased from 19.5% y/y as at the end of 2011 to 0.7% y/y. The banks introduced stricter terms and criteria for granting loans to enterprises, which was due to an increased risk associated with the deteriorating economic situation and an increased industry risk, including among others, in the construction sector.

The mortgage loans market was characterized by stagnation. As at the end of 2012, the growth rate of housing loans decreased from 19.2% y/y as at the end of 2011 to 0.8% y/y. The value of housing loans increased by PLN 2.6 billion in 2012, compared with PLN 51 billion in 2011. After eliminating foreign exchange differences, the actual increase in such loans in 2012 amounted to ca. PLN 18 billion and was 30% lower than in 2011. The sales of mortgage loans were adversely affected by a decrease in demand resulting from stronger fears associated with the future financial situation, stricter lending policies of banks due to implemented legal regulations, changes in the ‘Rodzina na swoim’ programme, and the deteriorating quality in the housing loan portfolio.

The decrease in the value of consumer loans was deeper. In 2012, their value decreased by ca. PLN 6.5 billion compared with PLN 3 billion in 2011. The lower value of such loans was due, among other things, to transfer of sales from the bank to lending firms within the same group in order to evade regulatory activity, the sale of a part of the non-performing loans portfolio, lower demand, stricter lending policies of banks resulting from newly implemented legal regulations, and an increase in competition from institutions other than banks.

In 2012, an increase in the total balance of deposits was more than 40% lower than in 2011; it amounted to ca. PLN 47 billion. The rate of growth of deposits decreased from 11% y/y as at the end of 2011 to 5.9% y/y as at the end of 2012. The main source of growth were deposits of households, which increased by PLN 36 billion. A growth was observed in the deposits of non-monetary financial institutions (of PLN 13 billion) and deposits of the budget sector (of ca. PLN 11 billion). At the same time, the volume of deposits of enterprises decreased by PLN 14 billion, which was mainly due to the deteriorating financial position of enterprises and the fact that they financed their growth from their own funds. The gap between loans and deposits as at the end of 2012 amounted to PLN 66 billion and was ca. 34% lower than as at the end of 2011, which contributed to an improvement in the loans to deposits ratio to 107.9% compared with 112.6% as at the end of 2011.

2.6 The situation of the Polish non-banking sector

The investment funds sector

After the downturn in 2011, the upward trend prevailed on the investment fund market in 2012. The situation on the investment fund market in 2012 was the consequence of a better situation on the WSE (an increase in the WIG index of 26.2% y/y (in 2011, WIG dropped by 20.8% y/y)), the continued positive trend on the debt market, and the policy of the Monetary Policy Council with respect to basic interest rates. These factors affected the valuation of investment fund assets and the net funds inflow. The assets of investment funds increased in 2012 to PLN 145.8 billion (27% y/y, ca. PLN 31 billion), compared with a decrease of 4.3% y/y (-PLN 5.1 billion) in 2011, and they reached the highest level ever. This was due to the positive valuation of assets (ca. PLN 10.7 billion compared with -PLN 9.9 billion in 2011) and a positive balance of payments and cancellations (ca. PLN 19.1 billion compared with PLN 0.4 billion in 2011). The net inflow of funds was the highest since the market collapse in 2007. In 2012, investors withdrew funds mainly from the share funds and the funds linked to the share market, which resulted in a net outflow of funds from these segments. The highest positive balance of payments and cancellations was recorded for debt funds (PLN 13.7 billion) and non-public asset funds (PLN 9.5 billion).

The upturn on the funds market affected non-interest income of banks participating in their distribution and the structure of savings of households.

The market of open pension funds

In 2012, the assets of open pension funds (OPF) increased to PLN 269.6 billion (20% y/y, PLN 45 billion; compared with 1.6% y/y, PLN 3.5 billion in 2011). The OPF market demonstrated the highest year-to-year growth of assets in its history (since 1999). The growth of OPF assets was strongly affected by the investment results of the funds, which was due to an improvement of the situation on the WSE share market (a WIG increase of 26.2% y/y, compared with a decrease of 20.8% y/y in 2011), and the continuation of the upward trend on the debt market. The inflow of new funds from the Social Insurance Institution had a lesser effect on the increase in OPF assets; it amounted to PLN 8.4 billion (half of the amount recorded in 2011). The significantly lower balance of transfers from the Social Insurance Institution to OPFs was a result of statutory solution reducing pension contribution transferred to OPFs from 7.3% to 2.3%, effective from May 2011.

As at the end of 2012, Treasury securities prevailed in the structure of the OPF portfolio - they accounted for ca. 45% (a decrease of 8 pp. y/y), followed by shares that accounted for 35% (an increase of 4 pp. y/y). The OPF portfolios as at the end of 2012 contained 252.7 million of shares, of which 63 million were bought in 2012. The shares of PKO Bank Polski SA prevailed in the OPF portfolio structure (9.7% of the OPF share portfolio).

In 2012, the number of participants in Pillar 2 increased to 15.9 million of people (an increase by 449 thousand compared with 562 thousand in 2011), which was due to the high level of unemployment and unfavourable demographic tendencies reflected in the lower number of people entering the labour market.

The lease market

After a period of high growth in the years 2010-2011, stagnation was observed on the lease market in 2012. The value of assets financed by lease firms increased by 0.3% y/y to PLN 31.2 billion. The main source of market stabilization were leases of machinery and equipment (+3.1% y/y), including strong increase in the value of leases of agricultural machines (+45.4% y/y), which was mainly due to the utilisation of EU funds.
Leasing of vehicles had a negative effect on the market development (-0.1% y/y). This was particularly true about heavy vehicles (-4.8% y/y), due to a low demand for forwarding and transport services (the effect of the crisis in the euro zone). A downturn was observed on the property lease market, however, the downward trend slowed down significantly in the second half of 2012.

Leasing constituted a significant source of financing of activities of enterprises. The value of lease-financed assets in 2012 was higher than the value of the increase in loans granted by banks to non-financial corporate entities for investment purposes and for real property.

The factoring market
In 2012, the factoring market grew faster than in 2011. The amount of receivables financed by factoring firms grew by ca. 26% y/y to ca. PLN 100 billion. This was a result of an increase in demand for factoring services (the number of customers increased by 14% y/y, and the number of debtors of the factoring firms that belong to the Polish Factors Association increased by 9.2% y/y), extension of the product offer and growing competition.

2.7 The Ukrainian market
The estimated rate of GDP growth in Ukraine in 2012 was 0.2% y/y (according to SSSU's initial estimates), compared with 5.2% y/y in 2011. The decrease in economic growth in Ukraine was mainly related to a lower value of gross expenditure on fixed assets and continued negative foreign trade balance resulting from a decrease in foreign demand for the main goods exported by Ukraine. The fast growth of private consumption had a positive effect on the increase in economic activity in Ukraine in 2012. As in 2011, the NBU policy in 2012 was focused on mitigating the depreciation pressure on hryvnia. For this purpose, NBU maintained strict liquidity control in the banking system, and the surplus in demand for foreign currency was satisfied through the sale of a part of the currency reserves. The official UAH/USD exchange rate of the NBU was maintained at a level of 7.99 throughout the year, although on the interbank market the rate grew from 8.01 in January to 8.18 on average in December. Following a decrease of 0.25 pp. in March, the basic interest rate of the Central Bank of Ukraine remained at a level of 7.50 in 2012. Due to insufficient liquidity in the banking system, the market interest rates on interbank deposits remained significantly above the official Central Bank rates throughout most of the year. In accordance with NBU data, the number of banks operating in Ukraine did not change in 2012 and amounted to 176 as at the end of December. The share of foreign capital in the capital of the Ukrainian banking sector decreased from 41.9% in 2011 to 39.5%.

A decrease in the economic growth rate caused a decrease in the rate of growth of the assets of the Ukrainian banking sector in 2012. The value of assets of Ukrainian banks amounted to UAH 73 billion compared with UAH 112.2 billion in 2011. The assets growth was slower due to the fact that the lending to enterprises gradually slowed down and the decrease in the value of the household loan portfolio was deeper. As at the end of December 2012, the value of the portfolio of loans granted to residents and non-residents increased by UAH 12.2 billion compared with December 2011 (in the same period of the previous year, the increase amounted to UAH 58.9 billion). The total loan portfolio value in December 2012 amounted to UAH 818.9 billion. The annual rate of growth of the loan portfolio decreased from 7.9% to 1.5% between December 2011 and December 2012. The decrease in the loan portfolio growth in that period was a result of a decrease in the rate of growth of the portfolio of loans granted to non-financial entities from 14.9% y/y to 5.2% y/y and a further decrease in the household loans portfolio. As at the end of 2012, the household loan portfolio value decreased by 6.8% y/y, following a 4.0% y/y decrease in the previous year. The rate of growth of the lending activity was still adversely affected by the regulations limiting access to loans in foreign currencies and unfavourable liquidity conditions on the interbank market associated with the NBU policy.

The rate of growth of total deposits (of both residents and non-residents) in the Ukrainian banking sector decreased in 2012. As at the end of December 2012, the balance of deposits in the banking sector amounted to UAH 603.0 billion, after an increase of 78.3 billion in relation to December 2011 (in the previous year, total deposits increased by UAH 82.2 billion). In December 2012, the annual increase in the value of deposits held in banks in Ukraine amounted to 14.2% compared with 18.6% y/y as at the end of 2011. The rate of growth of deposits slowed down in 2012 due to a decrease in the rate of growth of corporate deposits (as at the end of December), including deposits of non-financial entities to 13.2% y/y compared with 31.9% y/y in the previous year, and deposits of financial entities to -3.6% y/y compared with +13.7% y/y in December 2011. As far as the currencies of deposits are concerned, the decrease in growth was bigger in the case of foreign currency deposits than in the case of those denominated in the local currency. Due to the changes in the deposit base and the loan portfolio, the Loan-To-Demand ratio (LTD) decreased to 1.36 in December 2012 from 1.54 in the previous year.

The equity of the banking sector in Ukraine increased in 2012 by 9.2% y/y compared with the increase by 12.9% y/y in 2011 and amounted to UAH 169.8 billion (15.1% of the total assets of banks in Ukraine). In 2012, the gradual improvement of the loan portfolio quality was continued. The value of non-performing loans as at the end of December 2012 decreased to UAH 72.5 billion from UAH 79.3 billion as at the end of 2011. The share of non-performing loans in the total loans decreased to 8.8% in December 2012 from 9.8% as at the end of 2011. ROA ratio of the Ukrainian banking sector increased in 2012 to 0.45% as at the end of the year from -0.8% in 2011, whereas ROE ratio increased in the same period from -5.3% to +3.0%.

2.8 Regulatory environment

3. FINANCIAL RESULTS OF THE PKO BANK POLSKI SA GROUP

PKO Bank Polski SA and the other PKO Bank Polski SA Group entities did not release financial results forecasts for 2012.

3.1 Factors influencing results of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group

A decrease in economic activity was observed in Poland in 2012. At the same time, adverse recession trends continued in the euro zone economy. The economic processes were accompanied by the high uncertainty as to the future growth prospects. The situation of the Polish banking sector remained stable in 2012, although the rate of growth of the financial result was much lower than in 2011. An increase in net impairment allowance resulting from deterioration in the quality of the loan portfolio had an effect on the financial result. The operating efficiency of the banking sector measured with C/I ratio also slightly deteriorated. The situation on the loan and deposit market was characterised by a significant slow-down in the lending activities of banks and a slight increase in the deposit volumes. Actions undertaken by the PKO Bank Polski SA Group in 2012 allowed generating the net profit amounting to PLN 3 748.6 million. The profitability of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group shaped up on high level – as at the end of 2012, the ROE ratio amounted to 15.9%. An increase of debt securities in issue (+32.2% y/y) related to the issue of bonds and the high level of equity of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group covered the increasing capital needs, arising from the growth of the loan activity, and enabled the further stable growth of business activities. 1. Purchase of share and capital contribution to new company ‘Inter-Risk Ukraina’ Additional Liability Company

   On 16 January 2012, PKO Bank Polski SA was registered with the State Ukrainian Register of Businesses as the sole shareholder of ‘Inter-Risk Ukraina’ Additional Liability Company. The additional liability means that the shareholder is responsible for the Company’s liabilities up to 103% of its share in the Company’s share capital, i.e. the Bank as the Company’s shareholder, in case of insufficient amount of the Company’s share capital to fulfill liabilities, bears additional liability up to 103% in the Company’s share capital, i.e. up to UAH 44 573 thousand (PLN 17 049 thousand as at 31 December 2012).

   PKO Bank Polski SA acquired from Towarzystwo Ubezpieczeniowe ‘PZU Ukraina’ SA and Towarzystwo Ubezpieczeniowe ‘PZU Ukraina’ Ubezpieczenia na Życie SA a total of 1 share in the above mentioned Company in the nominal value of UAH 275 thousand, which represents 100% of the Company’s share capital and entitles to 100% of the votes at the General Shareholders’ Meeting. The acquisition price was PLN 2 500 thousand. As a result of the above mentioned increase, the Company’s share capital amounts to UAH 43 275 thousand.

   The main purpose of acquiring and subsequently the operation of the Company is to use it to perform effective debt collection in Ukraine, including: the impaired loans portfolio purchased by Finansowa Kompania ‘Prywatne Inwestycje’ Sp. z o.o. and the impaired loans portfolio of KREDOBANK SA.

2. Taking control over Finansowa Kompania ‘Prywatne Inwestycje’ Sp. z o.o. by ‘Inter-Risk Ukraina’ Additional Liability Company

Current accounts
PKO Bank Polski SA remains a market leader in terms of the number of current accounts, which amounted to 6.2 million as at the end of 2012. An increase in the number of accounts resulted from introducing in 2011 New Offer of current accounts, including products diversified in terms of customer preferences: SUPERKONTO Oszczędne, PKO Konto za Zero, PKO Konto dla Młodych, PKO Konto Pogodne, PKO Konto Pierwsze. In 2012, the Bank launched a process of opening accounts using a courier service and offered to customers a possibility of making money transfers via Western Union.

Term deposits and structured products
As at 31 December 2012, the value of retail market deposits amounted to PLN 119.2 billion, in which retail and private banking deposits prevailed. The retail segment customers invest their funds mainly in term deposits. Their share in the segment’s deposits as at the end of 2012 was 37.7%. In 2012, the Bank offered its customers an opportunity to invest in the following deposits i.a.: deposits with progressive interest rates (Progresja 9M, an ‘Even’ and an ‘Odd’ deposit) and structured deposits (based on the oil prices, palladium prices, USD/PLN exchange rate). The offer comprised products tailored to various preferences of the customers and funds could be deposited for different periods. The Bank's standard offer addressed to retail customers includes structured instruments sold in the form of structured deposits or Structured Bank Securities. The sales of such products are constantly growing in terms of value. Similarly, the embedded base assets gain attractiveness. The number of sales agreements for structured products concluded in 2012 was 3% higher than in 2011, and the sales volume was more than 15% higher. Products terminating in 2012 were characterised by high profitability: as many as 11 out of 12 series of deposits allowed the realisation of an additional coupon, and in most cases (8) it was the maximum coupon.

Savings accounts
Savings accounts also constituted a significant portion of the deposit structure – their share in the deposit structure as at the end of the year was 19.3%. The interest in this form of investing results from the possibility of combining an attractive interest rate (dependent on the level of invested funds) with flexible management of the funds. In 2012, the Bank's offer comprised savings accounts in the Polish currency and in foreign currencies.

Housing savings books
The Bank continued popularising the idea of systematic saving in 2012 and for this purpose, it offered its customers housing savings books with parameters adjusted to the current expectations of the customers. In 2012, the Bank's offer included housing savings books based on fixed and floating interest rates.

The Bank regularly analysed market expectations and adapted its current offer of products and services so as to match the growing competitive pressure and meet the credit and non-credit needs of its corporate customers. The corporate segment of PKO Bank Polski SA successfully implemented a project of providing specialised services to strategic customers, providing them with high quality services and professional advice. At the same time, the Bank supported development of local government and State budget entities, maintaining a leading position in this market segment. PKO Bank Polski SA develops its business by building long-term relationships with corporate segment customers based on the high quality of the services and competences of the sales network. By adjusting the organisation of its sales network and the model of its functioning to the existing market conditions, the Bank improved the cooperation with all groups of corporate customers. These changes helped the Bank to maintain a high level of satisfaction with the services provided, which is reflected, among other things, in the growing number of customers.

Lending activity

In 2012, the volume of loans granted to corporate customers by PKO Bank Polski SA increased by 22.1%, and the total amount of financing provided to corporate customers, including bonds issued, increased by 15.2%. This was possible due to the proactive approach of the Bank to continuous improvement of the product offer and its adaptation to the growing requirements of the customers.

6. INTERNAL ENVIRONMENT

6.1 Principles of risk management

Risk management is one of the most important internal processes in PKO Bank Polski SA as well as in the other PKO Bank Polski SA Group entities. The objectives of risk management are to ensure an adequate level of security and profitability of business operations in the changing legal and economic environment. The level of risk plays an important role in the planning process.

The following types of banking risk which are subject to risk management have been identified in the PKO Bank Polski SA Group: credit risk, interest rate risk, currency risk, liquidity risk, commodities prices, price risk of equity instruments, operational risk, compliance risk, business risk (including strategic risk) and reputation risk. Derivatives risk is subject to special control due to the specific characteristics of these instruments.

Risk management in the Group is based on the following principles:

- the Group manages all of the identified types of banking risk,
- the risk management process is appropriate to the scale of the operations and to the materiality, scale and complexity of a given risk and tailored to new risk factors and sources on a current basis,
- the risk management methods (in particular the models and their assumptions) and the risk measurement systems are tailored to the scale and complexity of the risk and verified and validated on a periodic basis,
- the area of risk and debt collection remains organisationally independent of business activities,
- risk management is integrated with the planning and controlling systems,
- the risk level is monitored on a current basis,
- the risk management process supports the pursuit of the Group’s strategy in keeping with the risk management strategy, in particular with regard to the level of tolerance of the risk.

The risk management process is supervised by the Board of Directors, which is informed on a regular basis about the risk profile of the Bank as well as of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group and about the most important activities taken in the area of risk management.

The Bank’s Management Board is responsible for the risk management, including supervising and monitoring of activities taken by the Bank in the area of risk management. The Bank’s Management Board approves the most important decisions affecting the risk level of the Bank and enacts internal regulations defining the risk management system.

The risk management process is carried out in three, mutually independent lines of defence:

- the first line of defence, which is functional internal control that ensures using risk controls and compliance of the activities with the generally applicable laws,
- the second line of defence, which is the risk management system, including risk management methods, tools, process and risk management organisation,
- the third line of defence, which is an internal audit.

The independence of the lines of defence consists of preserving organisational independence in the following areas:

- the function of the second line of defence as regards creating system solutions is independent of the function of the first line of defence,
- the function of the third line of defence is independent of the functions of the first and second lines of defence,
- the function of managing the compliance risk reports directly to the President of the Management Board of the Bank.

The Bank supervises activities of the individual subsidiaries of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group. As part of this supervision, the Bank sets out and approves their development strategies, including the level of the risk. The Bank also supervises the entities’ risk management systems and provides support in the development of these systems. Additionally, it reflects business risk of the particular entities in the risk reporting and risk monitoring system of the entire Group.

The management process of certain types of risk in the Group entities is defined by internal regulations implemented by those entities. After taking the Bank’s opinion and having taken into account the recommendations issued to the entities by the Bank. The internal regulations of the entities concerning risk management are introduced on the basis of consistent and comparable assessment of particular types of risk within the Bank and the Group entities, taking into consideration the specific nature of the entity’s activity and the market on which it operates.

The PKO Bank Polski SA Group’s priority is to maintain its strong capital position and to increase its stable sources of funding, which constitute a basis for the stable development of business activity, while maintaining the priorities of efficiency and effective cost control.
In this respect, the Bank took the following actions in 2012:

- it revolved a part of a syndicated loan in the amount of CHF 410 million repayable in July 2012 (with a new maturity in June 2015) and issued bonds in the amount of EUR 50 million, as part of the EMTN programme with 10-year maturity,
- CHF 500 million as part of the EMTN programme with a 3-year maturity and USD 1 billion on the American market, with 10-year maturity,
- transferred a part of the Bank’s profit for 2011 to own funds,
- executed a call option in the third quarter of 2012 and on 30 October 2012 redeemed subordinated bonds of PLN 1.6 billion, issued in 2007, and recognised the funds from the issue of subordinated bonds issued on 14 September 2012 as part of the supplementary funds in the place of those funds.

Moreover, in December 2012, the Polish Financial Supervision Authority confirmed that PKO Bank Polski SA met the conditions of high materiality resulting from the PFSA decision issued in June 2011 on conditional consent for applying the AMA method. Therefore, the PFSA enable to use the AMA method to calculate the capital requirements in respect of operational risk without the limitation related to a decrease in the capital requirement by no more than up to a level of 75% of the capital requirement calculated under the standardised approach. As a result, the Bank calculated the capital requirement in respect of operational risk as at the end of 2012 in full compliance with the AMA method.

In 2012, works aimed at optimising the lending process and increasing its efficiency through the improvement of the management information system (MIS) and optimisation of the lending process dedicated to individuals, small and medium enterprises (SME) and corporate clients were carried out at KREDOBANK SA. Furthermore, internal regulations concerning the basic principles of the lending process organisation and regulations relating to the process of lending to individuals and legal persons were amended.

In 2012, the Bankowy Fundusz Leasingowy SA Group (the BFL SA Group) focused mainly on building a safe lease portfolio to guarantee positive consolidated financial results of the BFL SA Group, safety of the capital and reduction in the share of irregular receivables in the portfolio.

Moreover, the internal regulations concerning market risk management were amended.

6.1.1 Credit risk

Credit risk is defined as a risk of occurrence of losses due to a client’s default of payments to the Bank or as a risk of decrease in economic value of amounts due to the Bank as a result of deterioration of a client’s ability to repay due amounts.

The objective of credit risk management is to reduce losses of loan portfolio and to minimise the risk of impaired loans, while maintaining an expected level of yield and loan portfolio value.

The Bank and the Group’s subsidiaries apply mainly the following principles of credit risk management:

- a loan transaction requires comprehensive credit risk assessment, which is reflected in an internal rating or credit scoring,
- credit risk assessment related to loan transactions is measured on the stage of a loan request review and a cyclical basis during the monitoring process, taking into consideration changes in external conditions and in the financial standing of the borrowers,
- credit risk assessment of exposures which are significant due to their risk levels or their value is subject to additional verification by credit risk assessment teams, which are independent of the business teams,
- terms of loan contracts that are offered to a client depend on the credit risk generated by the contract,
- loan granting decisions are made only by authorised persons within their authority,
- credit risk is diversified in particular by geographical location, by industry, by product and by clients,
- expected credit risk level is mitigated by setting by the Bank legal collateral, credit margins collected from clients and impairment allowances on loan exposures.

The above mentioned policies are executed by the Bank through the use of advanced credit risk management methods, both on the level of individual exposures and on the level of the whole credit portfolio of the Bank. These methods are verified and developed to ensure compliance with the internal ratings based requirements (IRB). i.e. advanced credit risk measurement method, which can be used while calculating capital requirements for credit risk after being approved by the Polish Financial Supervision Authority.

The Bank assesses the credit risk of retail clients on two levels: the client’s borrowing capacity and creditworthiness. The assessment of borrowing capacity involves an examination of the client’s financial situation, whereas the creditworthiness assessment involves scoring and evaluating the client’s credit history obtained from external databases and internal records of the Bank.

Credit risk relating to the financing of corporate clients is assessed on two levels: the client’s borrowing capacity and creditworthiness. The assessment of borrowing capacity involves an examination of the client’s financial situation, whereas the creditworthiness assessment involves scoring and evaluating the client’s credit history obtained from external databases and internal records of the Bank.

In the case of corporate customers from the small and medium enterprises segment that meet certain criteria, the Bank assesses credit risk using the scoring method. This assessment is dedicated to low-value, uncomplicated loan transactions and it is performed in two dimensions: the client’s borrowing capacity and creditworthiness. The borrowing capacity assessment involves examination of the customer’s financial situation, whereas the creditworthiness assessment involves scoring and evaluation of the customer’s credit history obtained from internal records of the Bank and external databases.

Information on ratings and scoring is widely used in the Bank for the purposes of credit risk management, the system of credit decision-making powers, determining the amounts above which independent credit assessment services are activated and in the credit risk assessment and reporting system.

In May 2012, a behavioural scoring system at the customer level was implemented at the Bank to replace the previous behavioural scoring system at the product level. The implementation of such scoring will make it possible to manage the total exposure of a retail customer using the mechanisms for comprehensive customer assessment based on both loan and deposit products held by that customer.

The chart below presents the share of impaired loans and their coverage ratio.

Chart 1. The share of impaired loans and advances in the PKO Bank Polski SA Group and the coverage ratio to total allowances

The share of impaired loans and advances in the PKO Bank Polski SA Group’s gross loan portfolio as at 31 December 2012 amounted to 8.9% and increased by 0.9 pp. as compared to 31 December 2011 (see chapter 3.2). The coverage ratio of impaired loans for the PKO Bank Polski SA Group as at 31 December 2012 amounted to 50.4%, compared with 48.0% as at 31 December 2011 (see chapter 3.2).

The Group entities, which have significant credit risk levels (the KREDOBANK SA Group, the BFL SA Group, the BTK SA Group, the ‘Inter-Risk Ukraina’ Group) manage their credit risk individually, but the methods used by them for credit risk assessment and measurement are adjusted to the methods used by PKO Bank Polski SA, taking into account the specific nature of the activities of these entities. Any changes to the solutions used by the Group’s subsidiaries are agreed each time with the Bank’s units responsible for risk management.
The BFL SA Group, the BTK SA Group, the KREDOBANK SA Group and the 'Inter-Risk Ukraina' Group measure credit risk regularly and the results of such measurements are submitted to the Bank. Appropriate organisational units of the Banking Risk Division participate in managing the credit risk in the Group entities by giving their opinions on projects and periodically reviewing internal regulations of the companies relating to the assessment of credit risk and preparation of recommendations relating to amendments in the drafts of regulations. The Bank supports implementation of the recommended changes in principles for assessing credit risk in the Group entities.

6.1.2 Interest rate risk

The interest rate risk is a risk of incurring losses on statement of financial position and off-balance sheet items sensitive to interest rate fluctuations, as a result of changes in the interest rates on the market. The objective of interest rate risk management is to mitigate potential losses arising from market interest rate changes to an acceptable level by shaping the structure of statement of financial position and off-balance sheet items. In the process of interest rate risk management, the Group uses the Value at Risk (VaR) model, interest income sensitivity measure, stress testing and a repricing gap.

Methods of interest rate risk management in the Group’s subsidiaries are defined by internal regulations implemented by those entities which are characterised by significant values of interest rate risk measure outcomes. These regulations are developed after consultation with the Bank and take into account recommendations issued to the entities by the Bank.

The PKO Bank Polski SA Group’s exposure to interest rate risk as at 31 December 2012 and 31 December 2011 consisted mainly of the Bank’s exposure. The interest rate risk for such currencies as PLN, EUR and CHF, generated by the Group entities, did not have a material influence on the interest rate risk of the whole Group and, as a result, did not change significantly its risk profile. Interest rate risk for USD was changed significantly by the exposure of the Group entities, in which the most significant exposure concerned KREDOBANK SA.

As at 31 December 2012, the Bank’s interest rate VaR for a 10-day time horizon amounted to PLN 64 451 thousand, which accounted for approximately 0.32% of the value of the Bank’s own funds. As at 31 December 2011, VaR for the Bank amounted to PLN 62 661 thousand, which accounted for approximately 0.36% of the Bank’s own funds (own funds calculated in accordance with regulations governing calculation of the capital adequacy ratio).

6.1.3 Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk of incurring losses due to exchange rate changes, generated by maintaining open currency positions in a given foreign currencies. The objective of managing the currency risk is to reduce potential losses arising from exchange rate changes to an acceptable level by shaping the currency structure of statement of financial position and off-balance sheet items. The Group measures currency risk using the Value at Risk (VaR) model and stress tests.

Methods of currency risk management in the Group’s subsidiaries are defined by internal regulations implemented by those entities. The regulations are developed by entities, for which currency risk measurement tools obtain a significant value, after consultation with the Bank and taking into account recommendations issued to the entities by the Bank.

As at 31 December 2012, the PKO Bank Polski SA and the 'Inter-Risk Ukraina' Group measure credit risk regularly and the results of such measurements are submitted to the Bank. Appropriate organisational units of the Banking Risk Division participate in managing the credit risk in the Group entities by giving their opinions on projects and periodically reviewing internal regulations of the companies relating to the assessment of credit risk and preparation of recommendations relating to amendments in the drafts of regulations. The Bank supports implementation of the recommended changes in principles for assessing credit risk in the Group entities.

PLN 14 287 thousand as at 31 December 2012 and PLN 29 673 thousand as at 31 December 2011.

6.1.4 Liquidity risk

The liquidity risk is a risk of the lack of the possibility to pay the debts on time due to the lack of liquid assets. Lack of liquidity may arise from an inadequate structure of the statement of financial position, mismatch of cash flows, not received payments from contractors, sudden withdrawal of cash by clients or other market events.

The objective of liquidity risk management is to ensure the appropriate level of capital necessary to pay present and future debts (also potential) on time, taking into account the nature of performed activities and requirements which may occur due to changes in market environment, by shaping the structure of the statement of financial position and off-balance sheet liabilities.

The Group’s policy concerning liquidity is based on keeping a portfolio of liquid securities and growth of stable sources of funding (in particular a stable deposit base). In its liquidity risk management policy, money market instruments, including NBP open market operations, are used.

To ensure an adequate liquidity level, the Bank and the subsidiaries of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group implemented limits and thresholds for short, medium and long-term liquidity risk.

Methods of liquidity risk management in the Group’s subsidiaries are defined by internal regulations implemented by entities, for which currency risk measurement tools obtain a significant value.

These regulations are developed after consultation with the Bank and take into account recommendations issued to the entities by the Bank.

The table below presents the Bank’s liquidity reserve as at 31 December 2012 and 31 December 2011.

* Liquidity reserve equals the gap between the most liquid assets and expected and potential liabilities which mature in a given period of time.

As at 31 December 2012, the level of permanent balances on deposits constituted approximately 93.3% of all deposits of the Bank (excluding interbank market), which is a decrease by ca. 1.5 pp. as compared to the end of 2011.

6.1.5 Commodity price risk

Commodity price risk is the risk of incurring a loss due to changes in commodity prices, generated by maintaining open positions on the particular types of goods.

The objective of commodity price risk management is to reduce potential losses resulting from changes in commodity prices to the acceptable level through manipulating the structure of statement of financial position and off-balance sheet commodity items.

Commodity price risk is managed by imposing limits on instruments generating the commodity price risk, monitoring their use and reporting the risk level.

The effect of the commodity price risk on the Bank’s financial position is immaterial. In 2012, the items in transactions generating commodity price risk were closed each time at the end of business day.

6.1.6 Price risk of equity securities

The price risk of equity securities is the risk of incurring a loss due to changes in the prices of equity securities on the public market or stock exchange indices, generated by maintaining open positions in instruments sensitive to changes in these market parameters.

The price risk of equity securities results from operations conducted as part of trading activities (the Brokerage House of PKO Bank Polski SA), investing activities and from other operations as part of banking activities generating a position in equity securities.

Managing the price risk of equity securities is aimed at limiting possible losses due to changes in the prices of equity securities on the public market or stock exchange indices to a level acceptable to the Bank, by optimising the positions taken in instruments sensitive to changes in these market parameters.

Risk management is carried out by imposing limits on the activity of the Brokerage House of PKO Bank Polski SA and monitoring their utilisation.

An influence of the price risk of equity securities on the financial position of the Bank was assessed as immaterial. The positions taken in equity securities and index instruments are limited, and they are not expected to increase significantly.

6.1.7 Derivative instruments risk

The risk of derivative instruments is a risk arising from taking up positions in financial instruments, which meet all of the following conditions:
the value of an instrument changes with the change of the underlying instrument,
- it does not require any initial net investment or requires only a small initial net investment compared with other types of contracts which similarly respond to changes in market terms,
- it is to be settled at a future date.

The process of derivatives risk management is integrated with the management of interest rate, currency, liquidity and credit risks. However, due to the specific nature of derivatives it is subject to special control specified in the internal regulations of the Bank.

For the purpose of measuring the risk of derivative instruments i.a. the Value at Risk (VaR) model, which is discussed in the chapter concerning interest rate risk or in the chapter concerning currency risk, depending on the risk factor affecting the value of a given instrument is used.

Risk management is carried out by imposing limits on derivative instruments divided into banking and trading portfolios, monitoring the use of limits and reporting risk level.

Master agreements concluded by the Bank with the major business partners based on the standards developed by the Polish Banks Association (domestic banks) and ISDA (foreign banks and credit institutions), which allow offsetting mutual liabilities, both due (mitigation of settlement risk) and not yet due (mitigation of pre-settlement risk), are particularly important for mitigating the risk associated with derivative instruments.

Additional collateral of exposure, resulting from derivative instruments are collateral deposits escrowed by counterparties as a part of CSA agreements (Credit Support Annex).

Methods of derivative instruments risk management in the Group’s subsidiaries are defined by internal regulations implemented by entities which take positions in derivative instruments or plan to take positions in such instruments. These regulations are developed after consulting the Bank and taking into account the recommendations issued to the entities by the Bank.

The positions taken by Group entities in specified derivative instruments are determined in a similar manner to positions taken by the Bank in these derivative instruments, taking into consideration the specifics of economic activity of companies.

6.1.8 Operational risk

Operational risk is defined as the risk of occurrence of a loss due to non-compliance or unreliability of internal processes, people and systems or external events.

The objective of operational risk management is to optimise operational efficiency by reducing operating losses, costs streamlining and improving the timing and adequacy of the response of the Group to events which are beyond its control.

Operational risk management is performed through systemic solutions as well as regular ongoing management of the risk. Systemic operational risk management is centralised at the PKO Bank Polski SA Head Office level. The ongoing operational risk management is conducted by every organisational unit of the Bank.

The Bank uses various solutions to limit its exposure to operational risk, including the following:
- control instruments,
- human resources management (staff selection, enhancement of professional qualifications of employees, motivation packages),
- setting threshold values of Key Risk Indicators (KRI),
- strategic tolerance limits and limits on operational risk losses,
- contingency plans,
- insurance,
- outsourcing,
- business continuance plans.

For the purposes of operational risk management, the Bank collects internal and external data about operational events and their effects, data about the operational environment and data concerning the quality of functional internal control.

If the risk level is increased or high, the Bank applies the following approaches:
- risk reduction - mitigating the effect of risk factors or the results of risk materialisation;
- risk transfer - transfer of liability for covering potential losses to a third party;
- risk avoidance - giving up the activity that generates a risk or eliminating the probability of occurrence of a risk factor.

In 2012, the dominant impact on the operational risk profile of the Group was exercised by the following three entities: PKO Bank Polski SA, the BFL SA Group and KREDOBANK SA. The other Group entities, considering their significantly smaller scale and type of activity, generate only reduced operational risk. The Group’s subsidiaries manage operational risk according to principles of risk management in PKO Bank Polski SA, considering their specific nature and scale of activity.

The Group entities manage operational risk according to principles of risk management in PKO Bank Polski SA, considering their specific nature and scale of activity.

6.1.9 Compliance risk

Compliance risk is defined as the risk of legal sanctions, incurring financial losses or losing reputation or reliability due to failure of the Group, employees of the Group or entities acting on its behalf to comply with the provisions of the law, internal regulations and standards of conduct adopted by the Bank, including ethical standards.

The objective of compliance risk management is to ensure the Group’s compliance with law and adopted standards of conduct and the Bank’s acting as an entity that is reliable, fair and honest, through mitigating compliance risk, reputation risk or the Group’s credibility and mitigating the risk of occurring financial losses or legal sanction risk resulting from breach of regulations and ethical standards.

professional, fair and transparent formulation of product offers, advertising and marketing messages, prompt, fair and professional consideration of complaints, requests and quality claims of clients.

The rules concerning the process of compliance risk management adopted by all Group’s entities is inherent within the PKO Bank Polski SA Group.

6.1.10 Business risk

Business risk is understood as a risk of incurring losses due to adverse changes in the business environment, taking bad decisions, incorrect implementation of decisions taken, or not taking appropriate actions in response to changes in the business environment; it includes in particular strategic risk.

The strategic risk is defined as a risk related to the possibility of negative financial consequences resulting from erroneous decisions, decisions made on the basis of an incorrect assessment or failing to make appropriate decisions to the direction of strategic development of the Bank.

Managing the strategic risk is aimed at maintaining, on an acceptable level, the negative financial consequences resulting from erroneous decisions, decisions made on the basis of an incorrect assessment or failing to make appropriate decisions to the direction of the strategic development of the Bank.

In measuring the strategic risk, the Bank takes into account an impact of selected groups of factors, distinguished in the activity and in the environment, which comprise in particular:

- external factors,
- factors related to the growth and development of the banking activities,
- factors related to the management of human resources,
- factors related to investment activities,
- factors related to the organisation’s culture.

6.1.11 Reputation risk

The reputation risk is defined as the risk related to a possibility of occurrence of negative variations from the planned results of the Group due to the deterioration of the Group’s image.

The objective of managing the reputation risk is to protect the Group’s image and limit the probability of the occurrence and level of image-related losses.

Management of reputation risk in the Group comprises mainly preventive activities aimed at reducing or minimising the scale and the scope of image-related events, as well as selection of effective tools for protective measures aimed at eliminating, mitigating or minimising the unfavourable effect of negative image-related events on the Group’s image.

6.1.12 Capital adequacy

Capital adequacy is the maintenance of own funds by the PKO Bank Polski SA Group which exceeds higher of: the amount of capital requirements (the so-called Pillar 1) or internal capital requirements (the so-called Pillar 2).

The objective of capital adequacy management is to maintain constantly capital on a level that is adequate to the risk scale and profile of the Group’s activities.

The process of managing the Group’s capital adequacy comprises:

- identifying and monitoring significant types of risks,
- assessing internal capital to cover the individual risk types and total internal capital,
- monitoring, reporting, forecasting and limiting of capital adequacy,
- performing internal capital allocations to business areas, client segments and the Group entities in connection with profitability analyses,
- using tools affecting the capital adequacy level (of which: tools affecting the level of own funds, the scale of own funds item reductions and the level of the loan portfolio).

The main measures of capital adequacy are:

- the capital adequacy ratio, of which minimum level in accordance with the Banking Act is 8%,
- the ratio of own funds to internal capital, of which minimum level in accordance with the Banking Act is 1.0,
- the capital adequacy ratio for core equity (Common Equity Tier 1 ratio).

8 Own funds for the purposes of capital adequacy are calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Banking Law and Resolution of the Polish Financial Supervision Authority No. 325/2011 of 20 December 2011 on deductions from own funds, their amount, their scope and conditions of their deduction from a bank’s own funds, other statement of financial position items included in supplementary funds, their amount, their scope and conditions of inclusion in bank’s supplementary funds, deductions from supplementary funds, their amount, their scope and conditions of their deduction from supplementary funds and the scope and manner of treating the activity of banks that are members of conglomerates in calculating own funds (Official Journal of PFSA No. 13, item 49 of 30 December 2011).
The capital adequacy level of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group in 2012 maintained at a safe level and was significantly above the statutory limits.

Chart 2. Capital adequacy of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group (in PLN million)

As at 31 December 2012 compared with 31 December 2011, the Group's capital adequacy ratio increased by 0.7 pp. to the level of 13.07%, as a result of the increase in the Group's own funds by 11.7% accompanied by the increase in the Group's total capital requirement by 5.7% y/y. As at 31 December 2012 compared with 31 December 2011, the Group’s total capital requirement increased by PLN 676.5 million, mainly as a result of an increase in the capital requirement in respect of credit risk while the Group’s own funds increased by PLN 2 148.1 million, mainly as a result of an increase in the Group’s reserve capital.

The Group calculates capital requirements in accordance with the Polish Financial Supervision Authority Resolution No. 76/2010 of 10 March 2010 on the scope and detailed procedures for determining capital requirements for particular types of risk (Official Journal of the PFSA No. 2, item 11 of 9 April 2010 with subsequent amendments) in respect of credit risk – the standardised approach, in respect of the Bank’s operational risk – the advanced measurement approach (AMA), in respect of market risk – the basic approach.

Chart 3. Capital requirements of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group (in PLN million)

An increase in the capital requirement in respect of credit risk by 6.8% y/y to the level of PLN 11 387.1 million contributed an increase in the loan portfolio and entry into force of the provision of the Resolution No. 153/2011 of the PFSA due to which from the date of 30 June 2012, there was an increase in risk weights (from 75% to 100%) for retail exposures and for exposures secured on residential property, for which the instalment of principal or interest depends on changes in the exchange rate of the currency or currencies other than the currency of revenues by the debtor.

An increase in the capital requirement in respect of market risk by 39.2% to the level of PLN 494.6 million was mainly due to the increase of liabilities due to securities underwriting agreements of corporate bonds with a simultaneous decrease of the corporate bonds' value (the total increase in the requirement in respect of bonds by ca. 77%).

An increase in the capital requirement in respect of operational risk by 22.6% to the level of PLN 659.6 million was mainly due to elimination of conditions to maintain the limitation on the drop in the Bank's capital requirement by no more than up to a level of 75% of the requirement calculated under the standardised approach (TSA), applicable in the period from 30 June 2011 to 12 December 2012.
6.2 Human resources management

6.2.1 Incentive system in PKO Bank Polski SA

PKO Bank Polski SA has a remuneration and incentive system, in which the level of variable component of the salary is determined by the degree of achievement of the targets set. The procedure for target setting and performance measures used depends on the type of position and classification to one of the three employee groups: management, widely understood sales and processing-support. The system is based mainly on the Management by Objectives (MbO) model. As the individual remuneration is linked with the level and quality of performance of the tasks specified, the variable component of the remuneration is strengthened and represents an additional salary incentive. The system focuses on setting objectives which are aligned with the direction of development of the entire organisation; these tasks are then cascaded to particular organisational units and individual employees.

Three pillars of the remuneration and incentive system:

I Pillar, the so-called Management by Objectives (MbO) covers managers for which specific individual objectives may be assigned. The MbO consists of granting bonus which depends on the quality and degree of completion of the tasks assigned and is the system which focuses on: determining performance indicators, assessing performance against the targets assigned, granting bonuses depending on performance.

II Pillar, the so-called Individual Bonus System (IBS), is the system of bonuses which depends on the degree of completion of specific tasks in the areas of sales and effectiveness. The system covers those employees who are completing business tasks, mainly in retail branches and corporate centres, where individual or team, measurable targets can be defined or where there is a strong causal link between activities undertaken by individual employees and the level of achievement of the economic and financial results of the Bank.

III Pillar, the so-called Support Bonus System (SBS), includes other employees not covered by the system MbO and IBS. This is a typical ‘participatory’ solution, whereby award is granted for the achievement of targets by a person managing a given group of employees (a directors’ contribution to the completion of tasks) and a unit. Given the nature of their jobs, such employees have an indirect, but significant impact on the degree of completion of the tasks assigned to their superior and the organisation as such, and thus participate in the results achieved by the Bank. It is also possible to define separate team targets (for an internal organisational unit). In this case, the SBS is a bonus which depends on the quality and degree of completion of the tasks assigned to a team – solidarity-related targets.

The PKO Bank Polski SA Group entities have incentive, remuneration and commission systems in which the level of variable component of the salary is determined by the degree of achievement of the individual targets set. The procedure for target setting and belonging to the particular system depends on performed tasks and the size of the company. Managers of the most Group entities and senior executive of the selected Group entities is covered by the Management System by MbO Objectives that is based on the principles that are applied in the Bank.

6.2.2 Remuneration policy in PKO Bank Polski SA

The basic internal regulation regard of remuneration policy is the Collective Labour Agreement (ZUZP) concluded with the company trade union organisations on 28 March 1994 (with subsequent amendments), under which employees of the Bank receive the following remuneration components:

- the base remuneration,
- additional remuneration for working overtime, as well as under conditions which are especially onerous and detrimental to health,
- long service bonuses,
- one-off cash bonuses in connection with retiring on a pension or a disability pension due to a complete or partial inability to work, and in addition, based on the separate resolutions passed by the Management Board of the Bank as a result of a recommendation of ZUZP in consultation with the trade union organisations, bonuses and awards for special achievements in work.

In the PKO Bank Polski SA Group entities the principles of the remuneration are set out in rules of remuneration or in employment contracts depending on the size of employment. Principles of the remuneration of members of the Management Boards of those Companies are set out in the employment standards of the members of the Management Boards of the Group entities.

6.2.3 Benefits for employees

Medical care

The Bank ensures its employees additional, besides occupational health services (resulting from the regulations of the Polish Labour Code), medical care owed to employees according to various packages, addressed to particular groups of jobs as well. All packages enabled employees to have unlimited number of doctors’ consultations in all areas of specialisation and to diagnostic tests ordered by them.

In 2011, the medical care for the employees was extended to include a health promotion programme called ‘Zdrowie jak w Banku’, covering, amongst others, a preventive health check and activities directed at health-oriented education and promoting a healthy life style.

The majority of the PKO Bank Polski SA Group entities ensure its employees additional medical care according to various packages depending on rules adopted in those Companies. Providing broad range of charge medical services for employees constitutes a significant element of additional benefits provided for the employed in the PKO Bank Polski SA Group.

Group and Inteligo Financial Services SA, whereas the biggest drop in employment concerned PKO BP BANKOWY PTE SA and was the result of restructuring of employment associated with the change of the business model of the company in terms of the statutory prohibition on acquisitions.

Collective redundancies conducted in 2012 in the Bank resulted from the following reasons:

- the increase in the work effectiveness of the Bank’s employees,
- adopting the number of employees to the changes in the manner or scope of tasks realised in the Bank’s particular organisational entities and in the organisational units of the Head Office,
- implementing organisational changes, including the centralisation of functions and processes resulting in changes of the scope of tasks realised,
- implementing new IT technologies supporting cost reduction activities,

7.1.2 Information concerning dividend

Dividend policy

On 4 April 2012, PKO Bank Polski SA adopted the dividend policy. The general principle of the Bank’s dividend policy is the stable execution of dividend payments over a long period in keeping with the principle of prudent management and in line with the Bank’s and the Group’s financial capabilities. The objective of the dividend policy is to optimally shape the Bank’s and the Group’s capital structure, taking into account the return on capital employed and its cost, capital requirements related to development, accompanied by the necessity to ensure an appropriate level of the capital adequacy ratios.

The Management Board’s intention is to recommend to the General Shareholders’ Meeting in the future passing resolutions on dividend payments in amounts exceeding the adopted capital requirements indicated below:

- the capital adequacy ratio of the Bank and the Group will be above 12.00%, and the necessary capital buffer will be maintained,
- the common equity Tier 1 ratio of the Bank and the Group will be above 9.00%, and the necessary capital buffer will be maintained.

However, the dividend payment policy may be amended by the Management Board as required, and the decision in this matter will be made taking into account a number of factors related to the Bank and the Group, in particular, the current and anticipated financial standing and regulatory requirements. In accordance with the provisions of the law, each resolution on the payment of dividend will be considered by the General Shareholders’ Meeting.

The dividend policy described above was approved by the Bank’s Supervisory Board.

Dividend for the year 2011

On 9 May 2012 the Bank’s Management Board adopted a resolution and decided to submit a recommendation to the Ordinary General Shareholders’ Meeting on payment of a dividend for the year 2011 in the amount of PLN 1 587.5 million that is PLN 1.27 per share and proposed 12 June 2012 to be the date relevant establishing the right to the dividend (dividend day) and 27 June 2012 to be the dividend payment date.

In the opinion of the Management Board, the decision on the recommended distribution of profit for 2011 was in accordance with the Bank’s dividend policy adopted on 4 April 2012. In the Bank’s Management Board opinion a dividend payment in the recommended amount was to guarantee that the capital adequacy ratio is maintained above 12% and that the Tier 1 ratio is maintained above 9%, while maintaining the necessary capital buffer. In the Management Board opinion a dividend payment in the recommended amount should allow the Bank to maintain its good capital and liquidity position.

The proposed dividend level was in line with the recommendation of the Polish Financial Supervision Authority with regard to strengthening banks’ capital bases. In accordance with a letter from the PFSA dated 29 December 2011, a bank may recommend payment of a dividend if:

- it has a capital adequacy ratio above 12%,
- its Tier 1 ratio is above 9%,
- it receives a BION rating of at least 2.5,
- the share of foreign currency loans to private individuals in its loan portfolio for private individuals does not exceed 50%.

PKO Bank Polski SA met all the above criteria such that the Management Board might recommend a payment of a dividend. The Management Board’s recommendation on payment of a dividend was considered by and obtained a positive opinion of the Supervisory Board in accordance with § 9 clause 2 of the Memorandum of Association of the Bank. In accordance with Article 395 § 2 clause 2 of the Commercial Companies Code and § 34 of the Memorandum of Association of the Bank, the recommendation was submitted for consideration by the Bank’s Ordinary General Shareholders’ Meeting approving the financial statements for the financial year ending on the 31 December 2011.

The General Shareholders’ Meeting set the following dates:

- day of acquisition of the dividends right on 12 June 2012,
- the dividend payment date on 27 June 2012.

All of the shares of PKO Bank Polski SA, i.e. 1 250 000 000 were covered by the dividend.
7.1.3 Share price of PKO Bank Polski SA at the Warsaw Stock Exchange

In 2012, the share price of PKO Bank Polski SA was mainly determined by the situation on the Warsaw Stock Exchange (GPW).

- the price of PKO Bank Polski SA shares increased by 14.9% (PLN +4.78) from PLN 32.12 at the end of 2011 to PLN 36.90 at the end of 2012,
- the average price of the Bank’s shares amounted to PLN 34.26 per share and was lower by 12.2% (PLN -4.78) than in 2011,
- the share price fluctuated in the range from PLN 30.50 (11 January and 24 May) to PLN 38.00 (14 September),
- the daily average volume of trading in the Bank’s shares amounted to 2,410 thousand of shares while the highest level (14,366 thousand of units) was recorded on 31 August and the lowest (601 thousand of units) on 30 October.

In 2012, stock prices on the WSE increased. The increases started in August, after significant decreases in the previous months of the year. This was mainly due to the fact that the moods of investors on the international financial markets improved, despite the continued adverse macroeconomic situation in both the European Union countries and the USA. Their optimism was largely associated with an anticipated improvement in the economic situation resulting from actions taken by the central banks, such as i.a. the Outright Monetary Transactions (OMT) programme launched by ECB in September to buy bonds of indebted euro zone countries, and the QE3 programme announced by the Fed, i.e. the third quantitative easing programme for buying mortgage bonds. Such actions helped ease tension on the financial markets. The prices of the PKO Bank Polski SA’s shares in 2012 were also affected by the expected, further sale of share blocks by BGK and the State Treasury after expiry of the 180-day lock-up following the sale of 95 million shares in July 2012.

7.1.4 Assessment of financial credibility of PKO Bank Polski SA

Currently, the financial reliability ratings of PKO Bank Polski SA are awarded by three significant rating agencies:
- rating agencies Moody’s Investors Service and Standard & Poor’s assign a rating to the Bank at a charge, in accordance with its own bank assessment procedure,
- Fitch Ratings agency assigns a free-of-charge rating (not ordered by the Bank), on the basis of publicly available information, including primarily interim and annual reports, and information on the Bank made available during direct contacts of representatives of the agency with the Bank.

In 2012:
- on 8 May 2012 Standard and Poor's rating agency awarded the Bank the following rating, at the Bank's commission:
  - the Bank's long-term credit rating at the 'A-' level, with stable perspective,
  - the Bank's short-term credit rating at the 'A-2' level, with stable perspective,
- on 28 June 2012 Moody's Investors Service Ltd. rating agency ('Moody’s') reduced the potential rating for the subordinated debt of PKO Bank Polski SA under the Eurobond issue programme (MTN) to (P)Ba3 from (P)A3 in connection with the withdrawal of Moody’s of the assumption relating to the systemic support for this class of debt.
  The decrease was the result of a review initiated in November 2011 and related to reassessing the assumption as to the systemic support of the subordinated debt of a group of European banks, which led Moody’s to the conclusion that there will be no systemic support for this class of debt. This conclusion shows that Poland is perceived by Moody’s in a manner similar to other European countries, where the systemic support for subordinated debt may not be sufficiently predictable any more to support the rating of instruments used to reinforce capital.
- on 17 September 2012 Moody’s Service agency informed about the changed outlook from 'stable' to 'negative' on Bank’s deposit long-term ratings at the 'A2' level and Bank’s debt liabilities long-term ratings at the 'A2' level.
  In the grounds of conducted change of the outlook for ‘A2’ ratings agency analysts informed that the change in outlook reflects a reduction in the State Treasury's ownership of the Bank and the State Treasury’s medium-term plans to reduce its indirect shareholding in the Bank.
  The analysts working for the agency added that the ratings of PKO Bank Polski SA had three-notch uplift that was among the highest in the region. Such high uplift results from the fact that in Moody's opinion, it is very likely that the Bank will receive support from its main shareholders if needed, and the fact that the Bank plays an important role in the Polish banking and payment system.
